

URGE CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS

IGNORE ROTERT CASE

JURY FINDS ELEVEN TRUE BILLS MONDAY FOR FIRST SESSION

Four Cases Continued; Manslaughter Case Is Dropped

The case of John Rotert, 12 Van Buren St., Dayton, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his brother-in-law, Robert Nance, 34, same address, who was fatally injured when a truck driven by Rotert upset near Alpha recently, was ignored by the May grand jury Monday.

Investigating a total of seventeen cases and examining as many witnesses, the grand jury reported eleven indictments, ignored two cases and continuing four other cases involving three persons.

James Cox, 20, Clark County, and John Ellsworth, 20, Springfield, were indicted for robbery sequel to hold-ups in Clark and Greene Counties March 17. They were charged specifically with the robbery of the Green Owl Tea Room and filling station on the Columbus Pike near Cedarville when Lee Peterson, proprietor, was held up while the youths allegedly stole groceries, oil and gas valued at $35.

The grand jury ignored the case of Raymond Massie, 20, South Charleston, accused of complicity in the same robbery. Massie was the driver of the bandit car but denied knowing the filling station had been robbed by his companions. Earlier the same day the three youths were alleged to have held up and robbed a Kroger grocery at South Charleston, obtaining $40 in cash. Robbery indictments against the trio were also returned by the Clark County grand jury and Massie may be turned over to authorities of that county for prosecution.

Other indictments reported follow:

LeRoy Doak, Elmer Curtis and Frank Daugherty, each indicted for grand larceny for alleged theft of journal brass from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Raid Mackabee, Martin Nooks and William Byrd, each indicted for burglary and larceny in connection with theft of seven chickens from a poultry house on the Thurman Early farm last April 14. Vernon Morgan and Alfred Dillard, both charged with burglary and larceny for alleged theft of twenty-three chickens from a hen house on the T. J. Wright farm April 11.

Charles H. Cline was indicted for passing a worthless check for $47.55 on Oliver Golden December 31, 1930.

The grand jury continued the cases of Herbert Rowe, Fairfield, charged with robbery; Arthur Franklin, accused of receiving stolen property; and Calvin Blunt, charged on two counts with receiving stolen property. Rowe was alleged to have slugged John Hoover, cook at the Fairfield airport, and robbed him of $90 and a wrist watch. He was apprehended at Ironton, O., and returned to Xenia. After making his customary inspection of the county jail, the grand jury, of which Paul B. Turnbull acted as foreman, recommended that better ventilation and light be provided.

JAPANESE AIRMAN ENDS SECOND LEG

LONDON, May 5.—Seiji Yoshihara, Japan's premier airman, today completed the second leg of his projected flight from Tokyo to San Francisco and Washington, according to dispatches to the evening newspapers here.

He set his single-motored light plane down at Nemuro, on the north-western tip of Hokkaido island, after taking off from Namsaki earlier in the day.

Yoshihara's next hop will be to Urup island in the Kurile group.

CARDINAL IS DEAD

ROME, May 5.—Vatican authorities made arrangements today for the funeral of Basilio Cardinal Pompili, archpriest of the Assisica of St. John Lateran and vicar general of the Vatican, who died shortly after midnight at the age of 73.

Cardinal Pompili's death reduced the number of cardinal bishops to four.

MUSIC PATRON DIES

NEW YORK, May 5.—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for William Theodore Carrington, retired grain dealer and patron of music. He formerly resided in Toledo and Chicago and maintained a home at Santa Barbara, Calif. He died here yesterday at the age of 76.

Crown Queen Shenandoah At Apple Blossom Affair

WINCHESTER, Va., May 5.—Last year's drought and its accompanying hard times were back numbers today when the populace and thousands of tourists made merry amid the blossoms of the apple trees in picturesque Shenandoah valley.

The feature of today's exercises was the coronation of Miss Patricia D. Morton, Winchester, England, for which this place was named. The crown was placed atop Miss Morton's head by Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, while thousands of school children, reigning beauties from towns in West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, assisted in the ceremony. Miss Morton was crowned Queen Shenandoah XIII. The day's program included "The Parade of the Blossoms" staged by Virginia and West Virginia schoolchildren, band contests by cadets, military and musical bands, "The Fruit of the Gods" pageant and an aerial circus over Byrd airport. Tonight firemen of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania will march in a torchlight parade, after which Queen Shenandoah will give a reception to her eighty-five princesses and her royal court. Following the reception, apple blossom festival balls will be held and Queen Shenandoah and her attendants will visit each one.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ILL

Illness of his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, 76, in Paris, caused Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, to make tentative plans to sail for France. Her steady improvement, however, made it possible for him to resume preparations to go to Warm Springs, Ga., for a vacation.

PULITZER AWARDS CAUSE TEMPESTS; WINNERS UNKNOWN

Play Nearly Ignored By Critics Given Coveted Prize

NEW YORK, May 5.—A few minor tempests in teapots raged in New York today, following announcement of the annual awards of the Pulitzer prizes for literature and journalism. Most of the winners were virtually unknown in New York and "Alison's House," a drama by Susan Glaspell, which Eva La Gallienne produced in an off Broadway theater, was overlooked by the critics, who praised it lightly, if at all.

In addition to "Alison's House," the $1,000 play winner, the awards were:

Novel—"Years of Grace," by Margaret Ayer Barnes, $1,000. History—"The Coming of the War," by B. E. Schmitt, $2,000. Biography—"Charles W. Eliot," by Henry James, $1,000. Verse—"Collected Poems" by Robert Frost, $1,000.

Journalism.—For public service, Atlanta Constitution for municipal graft expose; foreign correspondence, H. R. Knickerbocker, New York Evening Post and Philadelphia Ledger; editorial, C. S. Ryckman, on "The Gentleman From Nebraska" in the Freeman, Neb., Tribune; reporting, to A. B. MacDonald of the Kansas City Star for solving a Texas murder; report, to Edmund Duffy, Baltimore Sun.

All journalism awards were $500, except the editorial prize of $1,000.

LIBERTY BONDS
NEW YORK, May 5.—Opening price quotations for government bonds today were: Liberty 3½s 101.29, first 4½s 103, fourth 4½s 104.2; and treasury 4s 108.3.

RESCUE PLANE EQUIPPED WITH SKIIS TO DROP FOOD TO VICTIM

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 5.—Landing skis were fitted today to the undercarriage of the plane which Captain Albin Ahrenberg, noted Swedish airman, flew to Greenland to aid in the rescue of Augustine Courtauld, British meteorologist marooned on the interior ice cap since last December. As soon as possible, Ahrenberg will take off from Courtauld expedition base camp near Angmagssalik, Greenland, to drop food and supplies to the dog-sled relief parties which are beating their way northward to Courtauld's shack. If weather conditions permit, he may make an aerial survey of the ice cap in an effort to find the missing man.

MINISTERS PLAN TO OPPOSE SHOWING OF MOVIES ON SUNDAYS

Will Seek Local Ordinance In East Liverpool Is Said

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 5.—Ministers of East Liverpool today armed to fight the anticipated showing of Sunday afternoon movies as a result of the recent signing of the Marshall "blue law repealer" by Governor George White.

A special meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association was held yesterday and Rev. Dr. J. H. Lawther of the First Presbyterian Church, was appointed chairman of a committee of five to seek a prohibitory ordinance.

Their action followed announcement by operators of movie houses that they probably will show Sunday movies beginning Aug. 2, the first day the bill becomes effective.

Ministers indicated that they will appeal to members of the city council to pass an ordinance making Sunday movies illegal here.

As finally passed and signed, the Marshall bill legalizes Sunday afternoon movies throughout the state unless local communities legislate against their showing.

Though members of the city council remained silent on their plans, it was understood here that they will not be restrictive to the Ministerial Association's suggestion.

State Representative R. D. Smith (R) of Salineville, who voted against the bill when it was under consideration in the house, declared here that movies cannot legally be operated on Sundays until ninety days after the bill has been signed.

CAROL CONSIDERS DICTATORSHIP

BUCHAREST, May 5.—Persistent reports that King Carol II. of Rumania was contemplating a military dictatorship were strengthened today by news that the monarch had held a secret conference with his brother-in-law, King Alexander of Yugoslavia, aboard the latter's yacht in the Danube near Orsova.

Carol is believed by many persons to be hovering on the brink of a dictatorship fashioned after Alexander's model in Yugoslavia. The meeting was arranged, reports said, to give Carol an opportunity to ask his brother-in-law's opinion concerning the advisability of suspending constitutional government and assuming autocratic power.

WELCOME, MILORD!

NEW YORK, May 5.—Wearing the crimson robes, heavily embellished with gold braid, and historic gold chains, the official garments he dons on state occasions in his native city, Edwin Thompson, lord mayor of Liverpool, England, will be officially welcomed by Mayor Walker at City Hall this afternoon. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Thompson.

KING PRESENTS PRESIDENT WITH GIFT

Mammoth Hand-Wrought Silver Bowl, Worth King's Ransom, Gift Of Siamese Ruler To Hoover

By DAVID P. SENTNER

NEW YORK, May 5.—Just as one man to another, a king showed his appreciation for the hospitality of an American President with a "little" remembrance.

Before leaving Washington on the occasion of his recent visit to President Herbert Hoover, the king of Siam presented the chief executive with a mammoth silver bowl, two feet in diameter—worth a king's ransom.

It was inscribed: "To Herbert Hoover from Prajadhipok R. (Rex) April 30." In case you don't know your royal algebra, "Rex" is democratic language for "king."

The phraseology of the inscription was a forethought of the Siamese potentate to overcome any diplomatic restriction of an American President accepting gifts from a visiting monarch—so it was just Prajadhipok to Herbert.

Nor did the absolute monarch of far away Siam forget his hostess. A miniature (photograph) of himself set in a diamond crown was presented to Mrs. Hoover by King Prajadhipok.

Revelation of the gifts by the king of Siam to President and Mrs. Hoover was made today to International News Service by Prince Svasti, father of the beautiful Queen Rambai Barni, consort of the absolute ruler of Siam.

The presentation of the gifts from the king was made to President and Mrs. Hoover at a tea tendered them by their majesties in Washington before returning to Orphir Hall, their headquarters in Westchester County.

The silver bowl may prove to be one of the great art treasures of the world. For months, the artisans of the royal art school in Bangkok have worked on it.

On a gigantic silver base, the bowl is enhanced with "niello work," the art of decorating metal by incising designs and then filling in the lines with a black alloy.

The earliest known impression of "niello plate" is in the church of S. Giovanni at Florence, Italy. But Prince Svasti said that he believed the Siamese had used this method even before the Romans.

Detectives, who overheard two men attempting to rent an automobile to go to York, took the men in custody for questioning and from them learned the address where the girl was staying. The officers immediately located Miss Dempsey and notified her parents.

Police said the girl's mother and father said "all was forgiven" and that they were hastening here to return their daughter home.

"I don't want to go back home. I can take care of myself," Doris asserted.

"I want to be a short story writer," she said. "I am writing a story now, and I know no better place to obtain material first hand than in New York City."

When Doris learned that her parents were enroute to New York, she volunteered:

"I left home because I couldn't get along with my family."

The total capital of the two girls and the three men was sixty-five cents. Her financial plight, Doris asserted, never did seem to worry the determined Doris.

MISSING GIRL FOUND; WANTS TO BE WRITER

New York Police Locate Daughter Of Wealthy Family

NEW YORK, May 5.—Doris Dempsey, daughter of a York, Pa., lumber merchant, missing from her home for more than two weeks, was found in New York today. She was located in a rooming house where police said she had been living with another girl.

MONKS ARE MERRY IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., May 5.—Twenty-five monkeys, free for a short time yesterday when they escaped from a crate in which they were being transported to a zoo, were captives again today, but their temporary freedom left several Columbus citizens $5 richer.

The monkeys made their escape when one of the group unlatched the door of the crate. Their owners promptly offered a $5 reward for the capture of each one.

They climbed about downtown signs, swung about on telephone wires, raided restaurant kitchens and pranced proudly about the principal streets before they were captured.

Police men operating radio cruisers were summoned to join in returning them to their owners.

FLIES TO AMERICA

In the first effort in history to connect the capitals of Japan and the United States by air, a distance of more than 9,000 miles, Seiji Yoshihara, 27-year-old Japanese aviator, left Tokyo on the first lap of his flight. Yoshihara is flying alone and without radio.

GOVERNOR VETOED THIRTY BILLS; 127 MEASURES SIGNED

Permitted Four To Pass; Neared Record Of Vic Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., May 5.—Governor George White's total of bills vetoed today reached thirty, putting him in the class of former Governor Vic Donahey, Ohio's all-time veto champion.

Shortly before midnight, the deadline for action by the governor on more than 100 bills recently sent to him by the legislature, he vetoed thirty bills.

Two bills on his desk were signed just before the deadline and two others he permitted to become law by taking no action either for or against them.

Of 141 acts sent to him for consideration, his total score for the year is: signed 127, vetoed 30. The other four became law by lapse of time.

No other governor but White has ever equalled the thirty veto total reached by Donahey in his third term.

Former Governor Donahey's best veto term, however, was his first, when he disapproved seventy-six bills. In his second term he rejected forty-five.

The last two bills signed allow Lancaster and Nelsonville to use canal lands for street and drainage purposes and one of the two which no action was taken is to compensate Miss Ellen Hunt of Cleveland, for unlawful incarceration in a hospital for the insane.

Princess Helene was under the care of physicians today.

Princess Helene was stricken with a high fever last night after remaining for days at the bedside of her son despite the warnings of the royal physicians as to the contagious nature of the disease.

Doctors were uncertain whether Princess Helene actually had contracted diphtheria, or whether her illness was the result of anti-toxic serums injected to ward off contagion.

ACTRESS MARRIES
LONDON, May 5.—Nancy Barnett, English actress, who played in the New York production of "Bitter Sweet," was married here on Friday to Irving Van Stuyvesant, reputed to be a wealthy New Yorker, it was learned today.

PRINCESS ILEANA WILL MARRY ARCHDUKE ANTON IS REVEALED

BUCHAREST, May 5.—A thirty-year-old archduke, who in his brief life-time has been electrician, engineer and aviator as well as a member of the former Austrian royal family, was linked in betrothal today to Princess Ileana of Rumania.

Official announcement has been made of the engagement of King Carol's sister to the Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, a member of the Tuscan line of the famous house. No date has yet been set for their marriage.

The announcement followed by a little more than a year the cancellation of Princess Ileana's engagement to Count Alexandre Von Hohenberg, second son of the Prince of Pless, whose mother was the famous Daisy Cornwallis-West, a London society beauty.

Since 1928 the Archduke Anton and his youngest brother, the Archduke Franz Joseph, have attracted considerable attention in Europe by their aeronautical activities. Working as electricians and engineers, they saved up enough money to buy a plane and made several long distance flights before going to work as pilots on a British air line.

ECONOMIC LEADERS SEEK ELIMINATION OF TARIFF BARRIER

Ignore President's Views Speaking At Business Meeting

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Politely ignoring the warning of President Hoover, three of Europe's outstanding economic leaders led the sixth congress of the international chamber of commerce into controversial issues today by urging cancellation of world war debts and elimination of American tariff barriers while pleading for international cooperation in restoring world prosperity.

Beginning the day over, the congress of the international chamber of commerce into controversial issues today by urging cancellation of world war debts and elimination of American tariff barriers while pleading for international cooperation in restoring world prosperity.

Then, Sir Alan G. Anderson, director of the Bank of England urged "free buying" between nations, another way of disposing of American tariffs. Next, Sir Alan boldly suggested cancellation of war debts as a measure certain to hasten the day of recovery.

Lastly, J. S. Edstrom, managing director of Sweden's great electrical trust, blamed the concentration of capital in the United States as one of the causes of world depression. He also condemned government aid for industry or agriculture, a polite method of condemning American farm policies.

The three great economists were lavish, however, in their praise of American ingenuity, genius and activity. All three expressed the world's amazement at the speed with which the United States assumed a commanding position among the industrial powers of the world.

Their addresses featured the morning session of the congress. Beginning this afternoon, the international chamber started round table discussions of world economics. High on this program

CENTRAL ALABAMA SHAKEN BY QUAKE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5.—A severe earthquake was felt today in a score of towns and cities in central Alabama.

The shock, recorded at 6:16 a. m. lasted for thirty seconds. Only slight damage was reported.

Birmingham appeared to be the center of the disturbance, which extended from Gadsden, Cullman and Oneonta, sixty miles north of Birmingham, as far south as Montgomery. The shock was felt in a radius of forty miles east and west of here.

ANTICIPATE LAW

ATHENS, O., May 5.—Although a bill recently signed by Governor George White to legalize Sunday movie does not become effective for ninety days, operators of two theaters here today were determined to take advantage of the law at once. They opened their houses yesterday and city officials said no action will be taken against them unless complaints are filed.

MUNICH, GERMANY, May 5.—Soaring 165 miles without motive power, Herr Greenhoff,

LAWN ASSURED IF SEED BED IS RIGHT

Any Kind Of Soil Can Be Made To Grow Grass
If Treated

The old saying "A stitch in time saves nine," is particularly true when applied to making a new lawn, for once a lawn is planted very little can be done to change it without digging it up and starting all over.

Several important factors govern successful lawn making: first is the foundation. With the foundation made right everything else can be made right.

The ground should be thoroughly plowed or spaded to insure good drainage and to permit deep rooting. A lawn can be no better than its root system, and a deep extensive root system cannot be produced on a soil so heavily packed that the roots cannot penetrate it. After the ground has been thoroughly broken up, it should be harrowed or raked to break up the clods and then leveled off, sloping it gently away from the house to permit surface drainage. A heavy roller should then be used to firm the soil. If a roller is not available a wide board may be used to tamp the soil.

A Common Mistake

A common mistake is trying to make a lawn on the excavated subsoil usually dug from the basement and thrown on the surface. Such a soil will not make a satisfactory seed bed and if this was done in your case, it is advisable to have enough top soil hauled in to cover the surface to a depth of about three inches.

If top soil cannot be conveniently obtained, a fairly satisfactory seed bed can be prepared by mixing sand with the excavated soil if it is the heavy clay type. This can be done by covering the surface with about an inch of sand and working it into the surface soil. A thin soil, that is, one composed mostly of sand and gravel, can be made cohesive and retentive of moisture by mixing clay with it in the same manner.

Manure Contains Weed Seeds

After the seed bed is prepared apply a complete balanced plant food evenly on the surface, using four pounds to every 100 square feet. Work it well into the surface soil with a rake and then level on the surface for seeding or planting by the vegetable method, as the case may be. Never use manure as it contains all kinds of weed seeds and weeds are the worst enemies of young grass; not to consider the trouble they will cause later on.

Use the best seed you can obtain and be sure to sow enough. Sow seed evenly—an even distribution of seed can be made by sowing one-half the seed lengthwise and the other half crosswise on the lawn.

After sowing the seed roll the surface again or tamp down with a wide board to firmly imbed the seeds in the soil; then sprinkle lightly but thoroughly.

Keep Seed Bed Moist

As to the kind of grass, for the northern states, except in very shady spots, Kentucky blue grass and mixtures of the harder grasses are best suited. Poa Trivialis is an ideal grass to sow in those places constantly in the shade.

Where seeds are sown, it is doubly important to keep the seed bed moist until germination takes place. The young grass should not be allowed to dry out even for a short period.

If the lawn is properly made in the beginning, it can be kept in prime condition for an indefinite time by watering it and feeding it regularly with a complete, balanced plant food.

Regular feeding with a complete balanced plant food will take care of the entire food requirements of the lawn and will also take care of the humus requirements since proper feeding produces a deep extensive root system, a part of which normally decays each year as new growth takes place, leaving the dead roots, the finest kind of humus, right in the soil where it will do the most good.

BANISHING BUGABOOS THAT BOTHER WOMEN

Every woman who has had the experience of seeing supposedly "fast" colors in garments run wild, or of linens and other fabrics develop holes after comparatively short wear, will be vitally interested in the published reports that a movement supported by two very powerful forces is under way to banish these two ancient bugaboos.

These two forces are some of the leaders among the manufacturers of cotton fabrics, for one, and the Laundryowners National Association, for the second. Both are working to the common end, that textile fabrics shall "stand up" both as to color and wear.

Let it be said that only in rare cases is the retailer who sells the goods or the laundrywoman who washes them to blame for these defects. The real root of the trouble, it is explained, lies in the intense competition for years among makers of cottons and linens, which has resulted, in instances, in cutting quality in order to cut cost.

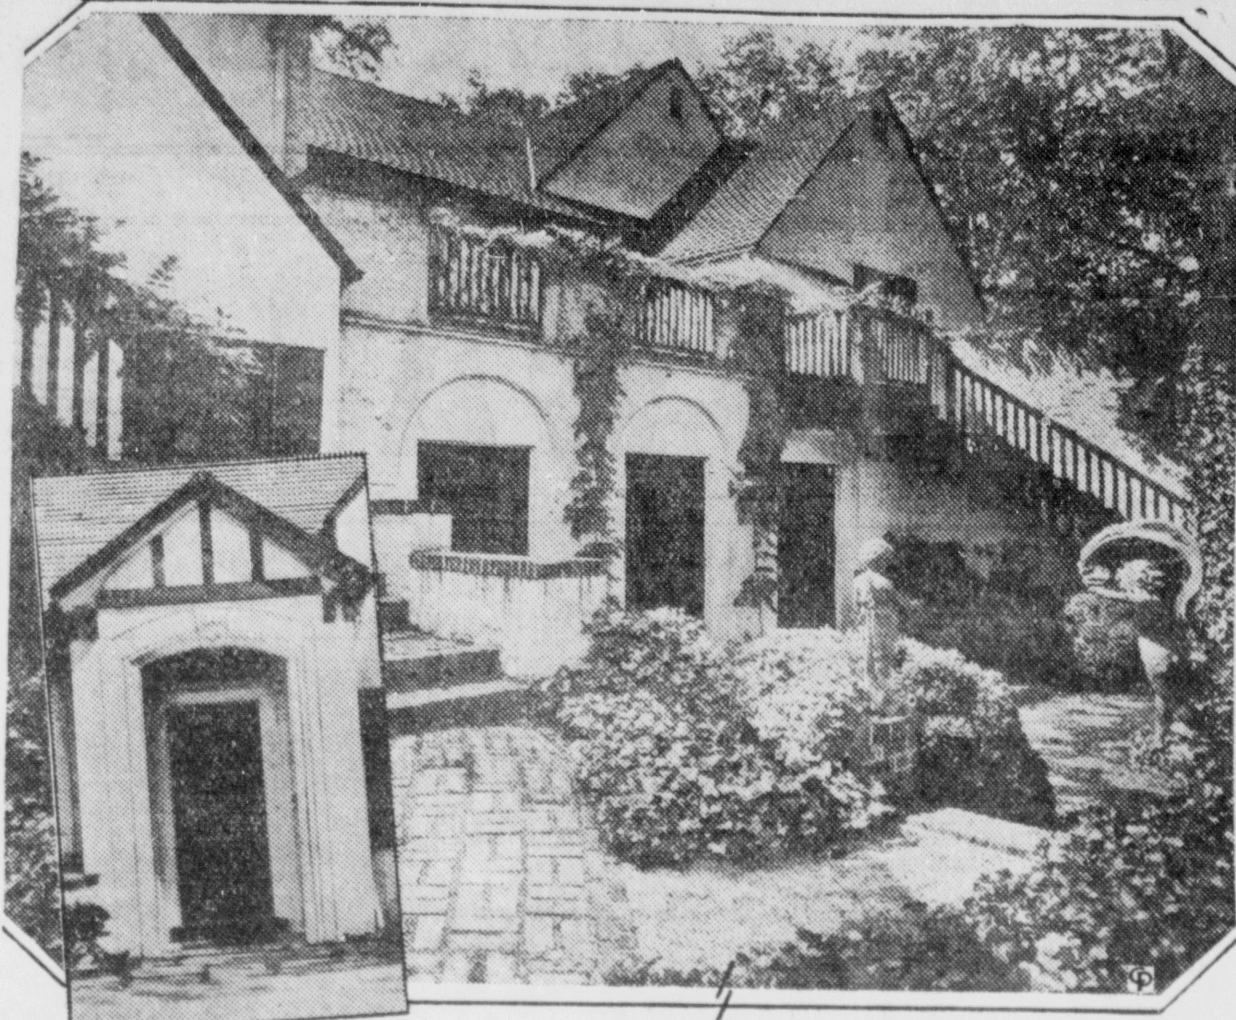

But the laundries and the stores were getting the blame naturally, because they were the first point of contact with the buyer and owners of the goods. So the laundryowners association put its department of research, at the American Institute of Laundering, to work, and definitely located the cause of the trouble.

Now there is a general movement on the part of the makers of fabrics to use vat dyes for "fast" colors and to do away with the hurtful practices in manufacture.

BOSTON.—The hydrangeas that grow on Nantucket Island are the bluest of the blues, asserts Attorney General Joseph E. Warner, an expert on flowers. The state prosecution officer is of the opinion that sea breezes have much to do with the coloring of Nantucket hydrangeas.

WEEK-END COTTAGE BECOMES PERMANENT HOME

Art Supplied to Central Press
By Home and Field Magazine

Have you a summer cottage which is most attractive for week-end visits but seems a bit wild for permanent residence? If you yearn to make it your home and cannot decide if it is wise so to do, give it a trial residence.

Such a small cottage was the humble start of the home pictured, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. William A. Greer, of Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.

Whatever drawbacks there were in the situation were discovered and balanced with the advantages before it was decided to make it a permanent place of residence. The cottage which was so delightful a home over the week-end was expanded in the mind to the proportions needed for permanency, the imagination picturing the wooded slopes filled with flowerbeds, etc., which later took definite shape.

The result achieved has originality as well as charm. The original house had only three small bedrooms and a sitting room. The garage was attached to the house. Expanded, the garage became the living room with high trussed ceiling and an unusual arrangement of fireplace, windows and doors.

Dining Room in Lower Story

Rooms were added to the north-west end, and another story to the back, this latter below the level of the front part of the house. The dining room is in this lower story. By making additions in this manner, the simplicity of the first building was kept, although it became much larger.

A low, one-story front with two-story back was good in this location, according to the contour of the land. There are two terraces in the back connected by wooden staircases. The upper terrace is a place for chairs, tables and potted, flowering plants. The lower is a preface to the garden, being planted with ivy and box, and laid out with flowerbeds. From these terraces and a small sun porch one looks out over the adjoining land.

There was no attempt to make the house architecturally correct. Liberties taken with the English renaissance style were largely necessitated by the existing structure and also for picturesque effect. The main doorway, pictured in inset, is done in the English renaissance, which is a combination of formality and rusticity. The house has brick walls painted white and half-timber work of oak.

Touching briefly on the world's agricultural problem, Pirelli observed: "Agricultural depression can only be solved by industrial growth, and that can only be secured by applying labor to natural resources wherever they are to be found under the conditions most favorable to their utilization."

In conclusion he demanded world cooperation in fighting depression.

Anderson, the British financier, spoke much along the same line.

ECONOMIC LEADERS SEEK ELIMINATION OF TARIFF BARRIER

were conferences on the Russian question and the silver issue, each calculated to stir up fresh controversy.

The business men of America, France and England undoubtedly will join in condemning Russian "dumping" practices, but it appeared the German and Italian delegations would defend Russian methods, due no doubt to the negotiation of recent contracts with the Soviet republic.

The Chinese delegation meanwhile will ask the congress to recommend or even arrange a world conference to negotiate an agreement for stabilizing the silver market. The Chinese pointed out that the decline in silver price had ruined the Chinese, Indian and other markets, where silver standards are maintained.

The address of Pirelli was the highlight of the morning session. Looked upon as the spokesman for Mussolini, he began with liberal praise for American business men, but warned that in the last three years, the decline in America's industrial output was far more rapid than in European nations.

This led him to his appeal for a revision of war debts and to a condemnation of American tariff barriers.

"Now I would be bold to say that public opinion in America under-values repercussions of the problem of interrelated debts, while perhaps European public opinion tends to make them responsible for consequences of all sorts. However this may be, it is certain that in Europe, interrelated debts have a depressing effect which goes far beyond the amounts involved, entailing economic as well as psychological reactions."

On the tariff question, Pirelli first pointed out that European markets for American goods had steadily increased in the last half century.

"The United States are more important to Europe," he declared, "as a source of supplies than as an export market. On the other hand, Europe is more important to America as an export market than as a source of supplies. Under these conditions, is the present level of protection still so essential to American industry? Would not the present outflow of manufactures be increased if a corresponding inflow of imports were to raise foreign purchasing power?"

Touching briefly on the world's agricultural problem, Pirelli observed: "Agricultural depression can only be solved by industrial growth, and that can only be secured by applying labor to natural resources wherever they are to be found under the conditions most favorable to their utilization."

In conclusion he demanded world cooperation in fighting depression.

Anderson, the British financier, spoke much along the same line.

DIVORCE SOUGHT IN ACTION FILED HERE

Sarah Mendenhall has filed suit in Common Pleas Court asking a divorce from John W. Mendenhall, second hand furniture dealer on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

They were married July 28, 1909 and have one child, John William, 9. The plaintiff says that for nine years her husband has contributed scarcely nothing toward the support of his wife and child, has failed to treat her as his wife and that for days at a time will not even speak to her.

The defendant, according to the petition, owns a truck and a pleasure car and has several thousand dollars in bonds in a safety deposit box in the Commercial and Savings Bank. The plaintiff desires custody of the child, asks that her husband be barred of dower interest in her property, that he be enjoined from disposing of her real estate or withdrawing his bonds from the bank and seeks reasonable alimony. The bank is named co-defendant in the action.

Ohio B. P. W. Federation To Meet In Columbus

FIVE hundred persons are expected to attend the twelfth annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Clubs at the Desher-Wallick Hotel, Columbus, Saturday and Sunday May 16 and 17. The Xenia club will be officially represented by Miss Glenna Dinwiddie, recording secretary and Miss Mary Beals, assistant treasurer, but a number of members are planning to attend.

Members of the state executive board will be convention hostesses for the first time and as Xenia is represented in that group by Mrs. Pearl Wittenmyer, chairman of the state committee on health and recreation, local women will have an additional incentive to attend. Nearness of the convention city is another feature that is expected to draw a large representation from Xenia.

The convention will open at a luncheon in the "Hall of Mirrors," Hotel Desher at 12:30 o'clock Saturday with Miss Ethel W.

PLAYLET IS FEATURE OF MEETING MONDAY

A playlet, "Rebuilt Auxiliary," was presented at the open meeting of Lal Bagh Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church in the Sunday School room of the church Monday evening.

Chorus was given by Mrs. Clara Rentinger, surgeon; Mrs. James Siders, the patient and Mrs. George Henkel, trained nurse. The play was directed by Miss Edith Robinson.

The girls' octet from the O. S. and S. O. Home, under direction of Mrs. Rose Byers, sang several selections. Mrs. D. B. Conklin talked interestingly on "In Defense of Missionaries" and Jean Conklin told a story, "Handing Down the Big Little Library." Musical selections were played by Miss Lucy Stout, violinist and Miss Juanita Rankin, pianist. Mrs. Harold Owens, who is in charge of Trinity Guild, told of the guild's work and urged Lal Bagh members to support it.

Mrs. H. C. Aultman, Mrs. Lynn Johnson and Mrs. M. C. Smith were appointed to the nominating committee and will report at the June meeting. Later a social hour was enjoyed and light refreshments were served. The Sunday School room presented an attractive appearance with the use of floor lamps and large bouquets of lavender and white lilacs. Success of the meeting was due to Mrs. F. C. Bishop's group.

INTERESTING MEETING HELD BY MISSIONARY AUXILIARY

A program of questions and answers under direction of Miss Bertha Hook, was enjoyed by Clara Allen Auxiliary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church at the home of Mrs. C. A. Kelble, W. Church St., Monday evening. The questions and answers were on home mission work.

The meeting was informal. Mrs. J. T. Charters led in prayer, Miss Eleanor Buckles played a piano solo and a short business session was held with Mrs. L. A. Parrett, president, presiding. Mite boxes were collected but the amount received has not been determined. Later a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The twenty-five members present. Hostesses assisting Mrs. Kelble were Mrs. J. T. Charters, Mrs. C. L. Spencer and Miss Bertha Gardner.

INTERESTED PERSONS ARE INVITED TO OPEN MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keyes, Dayton, former Xenians, have moved to this city and have taken an apartment at 132 W. Second St.

Kyle, Toledo, state president, presiding. The National Federation of B. and P. W. Clubs Inc. will be officially represented by Miss Emily Kneubuhl of New York, national executive secretary. Reports and other business will follow luncheon.

At the afternoon session an occupational assembly will be held and Miss Gladys M. Steele, Cambridge, program chairman will preside. Talks will be given by members of the Ohio Federation who follow unusual occupations. State officers will preside at the tea tables at an informal tea on the mezzanine floor at 4:30 and the Columbus Glee Club will sing.

The banquet, main feature of the convention, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Crystal Ballroom. Miss Lauretta M. McKee, Dayton, convention chairman and first vice-president of the state federation will preside.

Greetings to the federation will be extended by Governor George White and Miss Marion Brogan, Cincinnati, past state president and chairman of the state business opportunities committee will respond. Miss Emily Kneubuhl will give an address. Guests will be seated at small tables with local club presidents, hostesses. At this session the massed glee club composed of representatives from different clubs throughout the state, will sing.

Officers of the state federation will be elected at a session following the friendship breakfast Sunday morning at 8 o'clock in the Lorian room. Miss Vashli Jones, Zanesville will preside and Mrs. Neal Wyatt Kyle, Somerset, is scheduled for a talk on "Friendship."

Miss Ethel Kyle, state president, will give her annual report at the Sunday morning session, and other business will follow including installation of the new state officers. The convention will close following a luncheon in the hotel ballroom at 12:30 when the incoming president will preside and the new officers will be seated at the speakers' table. Mrs. Jessie Burrall Ewbank, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Cincinnati, will give an address on "Sportsmanship and Personality."

P. T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS MONDAY

HOME SCHOOL CONDEMNED AS UNSAFE; VACATE DINING ROOM

The state department of inspection of factories and public buildings has condemned the top floor of the three-story grade school at the O. S. and S. O. Home, one of the oldest structures at the state institution.

State inspectors conducted an inspection two weeks ago and Capt. Harold L. Hays, superintendent, revealed Tuesday he has just been notified of the findings of the department, in which the third floor has been adjudged unsafe.

Due to the lack of other quarters has been adjudged unsafe. The front wing was vacated last Saturday when further sagging was detected and 120 children were moved to new quarters hastily fitted up in the basement of the building.

Pointing out that a new dining room for the 714 children and a nursery, along with a new grade school, are the most urgent needs at the institution, Supt. Hays called attention to the fact these projects are a part of the program of additions and betterments proposed for the Home, and included in the budget for the next two years. The institution's budget for this period calls for an appropriation of $1,979,000, of which $833,000 is desired to finance new buildings and other improvements.

The legislature, at its recess session this month, will be asked to appropriate $200,000 to build and equip a grade school, $100,000 to erect and $10,000 to equip a new nursery and $200,000 for a new kitchen, dining room and store-room building and remodeling of the present building.

Two Xenia employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad have been commended by Supt. A. A. Jams, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, for their prompt action in averting delay and possibly a serious accident on the B. and O. line in this city recently. The employees complimented were V. W. Barba, agent and G. R. Hisey, yard brakeman.

As a B. and O. freight train was moving swiftly over the Pennsy crossing, just west of the passenger station here, a car became derailed. Hisey, observing the car derailed about fifty cars from the caboose, notified the conductor, who stopped the train. Agent Barba then went to the B. and O. offices and volunteered his assistance in clearing the right-of-way.

In a letter to R. C. Barnard, general agent and superintendent of the Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania lines, Mr. Jams expressed his thanks for the manner in which the two employees had conducted themselves.

FLYERS RETURN

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, May 5.—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., American aviators, took off from San Juan today for Miami, Fla., on their return flight to New York.

The airmen flew to San Juan by way of Haiti on a test flight before starting on a projected round the world journey. They hope to reach Miami in a single hop.

WANT PRISON LABOR

LITCHFIELD, Conn.—Residents of Litchfield County prefer jail labor to that supplied by free men, and a great controversy has arisen in this region. Fifty-five men here are out of work while the county jailor is overwhelmed with demands for service of his prisoners on the large estates here.

The superintendent also made known the fact a part of the children's dining room has also been condemned and abandoned. The floor has sagged four inches due to dry rot which has undermined the joists. It has been supported by beams from beneath since last January.

The front wing was vacated last Saturday when further sagging was detected and 120 children were moved to new quarters hastily fitted up in the basement of the building.

ELECTRIC COMPANY MADE DEFENDANT IN INJUNCTION SUIT

The Citizens Public Service Co., Ohio subsidiary of Fairbanks, Morse and Co., rival bidder for the Xenia electric franchise, has been made a party defendant to an injunction suit filed last week in Common Pleas Court by the Dayton Power and Light Co., seeking to prevent a special election on the franchise controversy from taking place in June.

The defendant corporation was granted permission to plead in the case within ten days. At the time the suit was filed, Judge R. L. Gowdy granted a temporary restraining order, enjoining the board of elections from proceeding with arrangements for holding the election.

A hearing on the case, at which counsel for the Citizens Public Service Co. will seek to have the injunction dissolved, may be held Thursday.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God. So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.—Romans, xiv, 11, 12.

NO MORE WAISTCOATS

The movement to abolish waistcoats in favor of wide satin scarfs is symptomatic of the restlessness of the age. Just when men had become accustomed to the feel and look of this prominent article of raiment, along comes somebody with the assertion that "vests" ought to be prohibited by law.

What useful purpose do they serve? Are they more indispensable than vermiform appendices, which merely collect things? Such is the argument of those who wear their watches on their wrist and their pocketknives up their sleeve. They forget that waistcoats collect more than watches and fountain-pens. What would become of the silk shirt-front if it was denied the protection of the world's champion soup collector? Could men wear galluses without a blush if it were not for the concealment waistcoats afford?

Why not retain the vest and make it ornamental? Old fashion plates reveal an era in which the waistcoat played a flaming role in man's sartorial drama. Gone is ponderous gold chain that used to stretch across the portly, aldermanic abdomen of the pompous citizen; but is that sufficient reason for discarding, too, an article of dress that requires but little ingenuity to make it again ornamental, as well as comfortable, when the mercury is not licking the top of the thermometer? A restless world would be artistically a poorer world.

THE BOUNDARY WALL

Two neighboring farmers were accustomed to unite in the task of laying up stones each spring which had fallen down from a wall built on the boundary of their farms. The one farmer said, "I do not see the need of doing this hard work every year; to me it seems unnecessary; it seems all nature is against a wall between us, else why are these stones constantly falling out of their places?"

The other farmer replied: "The way to be good neighbors is to have a good wall; come on let us repair it." And so it was that the old custom of keeping a wall on the boundary line was continued and there remained a feeling that something might happen that would interfere with each other's welfare and a good wall would help to make safe each one's interest.

Nations have been building walls on boundary lines and now voices are heard from many sources against that old custom, for these voices declare that nature is against it; religion declares that God is against it. But nearly all nations say, "To be good neighbors, we need to keep the walls repaired—large armies and navies with such military preparedness as will make it hard for any neighbor to cross into our land."

Reason asks in these days of financial depression when it is difficult to pay taxes, why spend a large percent of our tax money on boundary walls? World war veterans ask what our nation meant when they enlisted the understanding that this was a war to end wars? God's program is "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men."

THE LITTLE LAWS

The United States is called the most lawless country in the world. The idea of defying the law seems to be ingrained in the habits of many of our citizens.

In other countries which have had a firmer authority, the breaking of laws seems to excite a greater indignation, and it is regarded as a kind of attack on the government.

This lawbreaking extends down from the more serious crimes, to all the little regulations of cities and towns. For instance, take the matter of riding bicycles on the sidewalks, which is illegal in many communities. The fact that a city has passed a regulation forbidding such riding, does not always prove that much attention will be paid to it.

So with many other police and community regulations. Automobile drivers refuse to obey the speed limits, they park directly in front of no parking signs, and so on through the day. Few people obey all laws strictly. There are so many of them, that people are only familiar with a small part of them.

We shall not have peaceful and law abiding communities, unless we get people out of this lawbreaking habit, and make them feel that the willful violation of laws is a kind of insult to the community which can not be tolerated. If a law can't be well enforced, it is better not to make it. If it is once made, then we let ourselves in for a lot of trouble if we do not insist that when the community issues an order, it means business. When people keep breaking the little laws without any objection being offered, it sometimes gets into their heads that the big ones can be equally well violated.

A writer has entitled a recent volume, "Women Are Necessary." The race certainly wouldn't last long without them.

It is reported that some moonshine gives the imbiber a shock that makes him see stars.

Mr. Holsapple certainly did his very best to convince the court that he never said it.

Mountain climbing to establish a record doubtless has its exhilarations, but it must lose a lot of thrill for the man who reaches the top of a peak to see a plane soaring saucily overhead.

"Legs" Diamond is reported to have said that he hasn't an enemy on earth. However, he bears in his body evidence that there is some person who thinks he is an enemy.

Probably as big a threat as any to the perpetuation of the present regime in Moscow, is the failure of Stalin to develop a sense of humor.

This country needs no change in its form of government. What it needs is a change in the attitude of its people toward government.

A vitamin that will prevent softening of the brain is doubtless valuable, but what is needed much more, is a vitamin that will strengthen the backbone.

Maybe if the inconsequential things were outlawed as topics for debate, this would be an uncomfortably silent world.

"A man tells us that an old-timer is anyone who can remember when a pie was cut in four pieces—and each piece sold for a nickel."—Vancouver News. And a real old-timer is a person who can remember when they stuck a piece of cheese on the side and said "thank you, when they got the nickel."

Bo-Boodway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NOTHING NEW
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—Educators are alarmed, it is said, at a "new" variety of racketeering that is invading the elementary schools. The racket consists in larger boys bullying smaller youngsters who, "if unable to come across with a nickel or a dime, get a kick on the shins."

In this, the pedagogues see "another" result of the influence of motion pictures and tabloid literature. It's the fashion to blame every social and economic ill on the movies, the tabloids, Prohibition and the War—all of which, like the ill-compliments of, are themselves nothing but manifestations of the onward shove of evolution.

As for the "new" racket the schoolmarm has discovered: Wherein does it differ from the old racket that prompts nations to fortify their coasts and to maintain armies and navies? It's the ancient theory of "might makes right."

ONLY MEMORIES
A Fifth avenue department store has in its employ a plump, pink, white-haired lad on floor duty, somewhere between gloves and lingerie. He's eighty years old and has just rounded out his seventieth year with the firm. A decade or so ago they tried to place him on a shelf with a pension tucked in his pocket, but the old tumbler objected. He is happy in the thought that his presence, daily, in the shop, goes a long way toward keeping the wheels in motion. And these particular merchants, being kindly gentlemen, with a bit of imagination, have grabbed at the chance of making a fellow human being happy.

The old employee is a modern of moderns. He recalls Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, Lily Langtry and Lillian Russell—women whose names once meant something but now have a touch of pathos about them.

What time does to most reputations may be discerned in the supercilious tone the old department store employee adopted in speaking of Lillian Russell.

"I've laid eyes on better looking parties than Lillian Russell," he says. The girl of today suits me right down to the ground, by George! I never had much use for those long-skirted females, anyway."

That point of view may account for the years he has crowded into his span.

MIGHTY TRUTH
Speaking of department stores. One of them recently advertised long gloves for women "priced so low that you can afford the seven pairs a leading fashion magazine considers essential this season."

That was news to me, that seven pairs of gloves are "essential" this season. Inquiry revealed that it's absolutely necessary to have TWO pairs of "twenty-buttons" to complete the formality of the evening gown; TWO pairs of "sleeve-buttons" to go with the short-sleeved dresses; and THREE pairs of "twelve-buttons" for three-quarter sleeve coats and suits and long-sleeved afternoon dresses.

And that gives me a slant on the female portion of The Capital of The Commonwealth that I didn't have before.

I have always maintained that there's no better gauge on the morals, manners and general standards of a community than its newspaper and magazine advertisements.

The whole story is told there, condensed and clarified—thousand times more accurate and interesting than any professional appraisal could narrate it.

By their ads ye shall know them.

THE QUESTION BOX

Central Press Wash Bureau

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

Was Ruth Chatterton born in this country? Is she married? New York City was the birthplace of Ruth Chatterton. She is married to Ralph Forbes.

The Great Wall in China When was the historic wall in China built? Of what material is it made?

The approximate date of the erection of this wall is the third century B. C. It is more than 17 feet thick and is formed by two walls of large brick with earth and stones between.

Geese Is there such a word as "geese"? This word is the plural of the implements used by tailors in shaping and smoothing the shoulders of a coat.

Size of Italy What is the area of Italy? With what state in this country does it compare the nearest in size? The area of Italy, not including possessions, is 119,744 square miles. It compares in size with New Mexico, which has an area of 122,634 square miles.

THAT BAREFACE STYLE CATCHES ON

TILSON AND SNELL BATTLE FOR HOUSE SPEAKERSHIP ENGENDERS BAD FEELING

WASHINGTON—Rivalry between G. O. P. candidates for speaker of the house of representatives is generating a surprising amount of ill feeling, considering how uncertain it is that the Republicans will be able to put a presiding officer of their politics in the chair at all when the seventy-second congress meets.

Following Speaker Longworth's death the general impression was that Col. John Q. Tilson's title to succeed him would very readily be recognized, provided the colonel cared for the honor. It seems that he does.

Had the colonel waived his claim, Chairman Bertrand H. Snell of the rules committee unquestionably would have been entitled to consider himself logically next in line, but the colonel having chosen not to waive it, it evidently has come as a sore shock to him to have Chairman Snell proclaim his candidacy anyway.

While there is no formal regulation on the subject, the speaker necessarily is the majority party boss in the representatives' chamber; he would not have the votes to make him speaker otherwise. Equally by common consent the majority's floor leader always has been regarded as the speaker's right hand and the rules committee's chairman (the majority party holds all the chairmanships) as his left hand. Under Speaker Longworth these were the jobs filled by Col. Tilson and Representative Snell, respectively.

Clearly, then, if previous party standing counts for anything, Col. Tilson ranks Chairman Snell. Moreover, on grounds of seniority (which also is a factor) the colonel outclasses the chairman by two terms of service.

Snell, a New Yorker, from Potsdam, first made sure of the ballots of the Empire State's 20 Republican representatives, or two fewer ballots than Colonel Tilson ought to be able to depend on from the G. O. P.'s New England delegation. Ought to be, but isn't; for Snell did not disclose his plan until he had browsed about among the New England Republicans and detached some few of them from the colonel, in his own favor.

He also is said to have lined up in his behalf Representative Isaac Bacharach of New Jersey, who was manager for Speaker Longworth the last time the latter was seeking re-election to the presiding officer's chair—thus gaining a valuable supporter and simultaneously eliminating a possible competitor. Bacharach himself having been mentioned in connection with the speakership.

His next move was to issue his historic statement (interpreted on all sides as a bid for the agricultural west's backing) to the effect that, in his opinion, the Republican policy of industrial protection by the tariff method has reached the safety limit—and rather plainly implying that he thinks it has passed the limit, though he was one of the Hawley-Smoot bill's strongest advocates.

With that his campaign not only was fairly launched but under full sail before Colonel Tilson had had time to realize that he really is in for a terrific contest.

Naturally the colonel is as mad as a hornet.

He can fight, all right, and he is popular, being a mighty fine old fellow—as conservative as Methuselah, to be sure, but for that matter, Snell was supposed to be equally so until he issued that tariff statement. Now he has everyone guessing.

Possibly the wet-and-dry question will enter into the controversy. The colonel is a wet; Snell a dry, as are many upstate New Yorkers.

One far from unlikely outcome

WHY MOON GETS FARTHER NORTH THAN THE SUN

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The moon does not travel around the earth in its monthly orbit in a path identical with the plane of the ecliptic. The ecliptic is tilted 23 1/2 degrees to that of the equator, but the moon's path is at an angle of a little more than five degrees to that of the ecliptic. Consequently when the moon journeys to the point of its greatest possible position north it appears a little more than 28 1/2 degrees north of the equator instead of 23 1/2 degrees, the sun's northern limit. At such times when the moon exceeds 23 1/2 degrees north, it sheds an increased amount of light over the north polar regions.

basis. They made a refusal seem like an insult to an intimate friend. They made me mad. And when I said "No!" they looked "hurt," like trustful children who'd just been told there isn't any Santa Claus. And that made me twice as mad!

One of the disappointed salesmen complained mournfully to a friend of mine that he was afraid I hadn't liked him personally. His personality had nothing at all to do with it. He'd failed to sell because in my family, at that time, we didn't need what he was trying to sell.

I don't see why anybody should throw himself in as a bonus, to boot, when he's selling a useful, respectable article. I don't get that idea at all. It gives me the creeps. And if you give me my choice of salesmen, I'll take a grumpy old shoe clerk I used to know—who growled and said hardly a word, but sold us shoes and saw that they were good fits and took our money and said goodbye. He could have been a bit more polite, but at least he was selling us Shoes, and not Himself.

Maybe I AM getting old and tussy, but I'm fed up on having young fellows try to "Sell-Themselves" to me. Somehow it seems a long, long way from the sturdy American we've heard so much about.

of the conflict is that Tilson and Snell will nullify each other.

In such an event at least a dozen Republican possibilities are mentioned—some of them highly improbable. Will Wood of Indiana, William Ramseyer of Iowa and Fred Britten of Chicago are among the best bets.

But after all their maneuvering the Democratic John N. Garner may win.

The speaker's will be a chancey job for the next two years, who ever gets it—the forces are so evenly balanced, there are so many progressives to be placated, the rules are so certain to be radically weakened and so much of the time will be spent on the very eve of what promises to be the hottest national election in a couple of generations.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
Baked Pork Chops Baked Potatoes
Lettuce, Radish, Young Onion Salad
Simple Simon Cake

Tea
Young onions added to any mixture of vegetables for the spring salad give it a fresh taste, if you're fond of onions. If you're not, add a little watercress to give your salad a spicy taste.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Baked Pork Chops—Six chops, browned, then place in roaster and cover with two cans of tomato soup mixed with one-third cup cracker crumbs. Place on each chop one slice onion and one ring of green pepper, cover and bake in slow oven one and one-half hours. Fine.

Simple Simon Cake—Put whites of two eggs in cup. Add enough melted butter to make the cup half full. Fill the cup up with milk, one cup sugar, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon vanilla, two teaspoons baking powder. Mix all together and beat five minutes. Bake in moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes. Top with your favorite icing.

SUGGESTIONS

Make Sandwich
When feeding a small child bread spread with butter or jam—cut the bread into thin slices and fold over into sandwiches. There will then be no "butter side" to fall on the carpet, nor will the child get butter or jam on its fingers or dress.

Laundry Hints

Are you going to brighten up the laundry this spring? It should be a cheerful place in which to work, and so often the basement is dark and dismal.

Walls may be whitewashed or painted, the cupboards for holding soaps and other laundering supplies may be painted a bright color, and a complete checking up of equipment should be made.

Does the washing machine receive its share of care? Is it cared for as it should be, to keep it in perfect running order? Does the ironer need a new cover on the roller?

After all these items are checked, you can make some new covers of heavy material for the various pieces of equipment. They will protect the surfaces and keep out any dust.

Rubber Gloves

When using the rubber gloves, before removing gloves from hands, wash in soap and water and rinse, then dry thoroughly. Dust with talcum inside and out. Gloves will be clean and easy to slip on next time.

Knowledge Of Glands Increasing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Most of the diseases due to secretions of the glands are rare. Fortunately we do not have a great many glands, whose excessive growth is due to the pituitary gland, nor precocious young people whose early adult development is due to disease of the pineal gland.

Great advances have been made in our knowledge of these glands in the last twenty-five years, and even in the last five years. During the latter period the two glands whose study has yielded the greatest amount of information are the parathyroid and the adrenal glands. Interesting and valuable as these studies are, however, the diseases which involve these glands are not frequently seen, so the information we have will not vitally benefit any large number of people.

The parathyroid glands are four in number and lie at each corner behind the thyroid gland. Our first knowledge of their functions came when the science of thyroid surgery was new and operators in removing the thyroid accidentally removed the parathyroids also. When this occurred a peculiar spasm affected the muscles. The condition was called tetany. It was found that calcium injected in the blood stream or given by mouth would, to a certain extent, relieve the muscular spasms.

It was also found that many children who had rickets developed tetany. Rickets, of course, is a disease of the bones particularly and consists of a lack of calcium being deposited in the bones. Tetany was also found to occur in mothers during the period of nursing the baby when the calcium of the blood was drawn on to give to the milk. So the idea became firmly established that tetany was caused by changes in the metabolism (nutrition) of calcium.

Tetany is a disease in which both the secretion of the parathyroids is absent and the calcium of the blood is decreased. The administration of calcium helped it some, but not very much. When the calcium was given by mouth it was excreted by the kidneys too soon to have any action. What seemed to be needed was the secretion of the parathyroids to fix the calcium in the body. And up to a few years ago an active extract of the glands had not been isolated. Then Dr. Collip, in Montreal, announced an active parathyroid hormone. When this is given along with calcium, the spasm of the muscles, in tetany disappears.

So much for our advance in knowledge of absence or decrease of parathyroid secretions. What happened when the parathyroid secretion was increased? Nobody knew two years ago. There was a very rare and peculiar disease of the bones called multiple myeloma in this disease tumors or growths formed in different bones and at such points the bones became soft or fractured. Nobody knew much about this disease. One day a patient who was afflicted with it told his doctor (this was in St. Louis) that he had an enlargement in the base of the neck. The doctor examined him and confirmed the finding. He had a surgeon take this enlargement out; what it was put under the microscope it was seen to be a diseased parathyroid gland.

After the operation the softness of the patient's bones began to take on normal hardness, even the tumors in the bones disappeared. The bones a clue look shaped. The bones are made of calcium. Calcium, tetany, after removal of the parathyroids! Bone change, or in other words calcium change, where there is too much parathyroid secretion! We thus now know the symptoms of both overactivity and under-activity of the parathyroid glands.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Man Yearns To Kiss, Be Friends

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Proper pride is a good thing. But what is proper pride? When your pride keeps you from saying, "I'm sorry," when you have quarreled with a friend, it's foolish, in my estimation.

What if you were more wronged than wronging? You can say you're sorry for your share in the affair, and that will help the other party to acknowledge his guilt.

I haven't much patience with the person who won't "give in," and who prides himself on being "firm," which usually means obstinate.

"Dear Miss Lee: A few years ago I had some trouble with another man and there has been a feeling between our families ever since. Please quote me as saying that we have no hard feelings against them and hope they may soften a little towards us."

"I know things can never be as they once were, but still there should be no malice. 'Vengeance belongs to God,' Alasandra."

If You Mascara Lashes Be Careful

By GLADYS GLAD

Helen Walsh, one of the prettiest of the Ziegfeld beauties, is considered the possessor of the loveliest eyelashes in the theatrical profession. And rightly, too. For the thick fringe of curling lashes that frame her eyes is not only of an enviable length, but also of a natural darkness that accentuates their fullness and length.

The fact that the lashes, when darkened, tend to appear longer and thicker than they ordinarily would, has induced many girls to use mascara frequently. And a goodly number of these large-scale mascara users have been complaining that their lashes have thinned to an alarming extent.

Generally, it is not the use of the mascara itself that causes the lashes to become thin and brittle. It is, rather, thoughtlessness in the selection of this cosmetic, and carelessness in its removal. Any girl, from the teens up, should know that a dry, chalky substance used continually on the skin of the cheeks, lips, arms or eyelids will eventually dry those areas, and will also dry out the roots of any hair on those areas.

Of course, in the application of mascara the brush should never touch the lids. But if you are not deft with the brush, you probably will find it difficult to do a clean job of applying this cosmetic. However, be as careful as you can when using it. Mascara that flake off to any great extent tend to dry and thin the lashes, for the tiny dry bits of the cosmetic dust onto the eyelids at the hair roots.

You should be very careful when removing the mascara from your lashes. Stand over a basin of warm water, and have the water over your tightly-closed eyes with a soft cloth or pledget of absorbent cotton. Then use a cleansing cream to remove any remaining bits of the cosmetic. And always apply plain vaseline or odorless and tasteless castor oil to your lashes at night, to counteract any drying effects of the mascara.

Eye-lashes that have become thin and brittle as a result of the continuous use of mascara, can be restored to their natural thickness and length by nightly applications of the greases I have mentioned above.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

The battle between George Herman Ruth and Lewis Robert Wilson for the heavyweight slugging championship of the major leagues and the mythical home run crown should be one of the most appealing features of the current baseball season.

With the campaign still in its infancy, George Herman is leading the pudgy Chicago Cub outfielder, three circuit swats to one. "Hack" has been in the throes of a batting slump and was even unable to take advantage of the fact the Yankee Sultan of Swat was on the shelf for a week because of an injury.

Here is the way H. G. Salsinger, of the Detroit News, says the Wilson-Ruth struggle for home run supremacy:

"Since he wallowed his way into the headlines and became undisciplined king of mighty slugging, Ruth has had a number of challengers, but Wilson is the only one who ever became a serious challenger. He not only became serious but he actually dethroned Ruth last year by hitting fifty-six four-baggers to Ruth's forty-nine, the first man ever able to shove Ruth out of the No. 1 slugging position."

There has been an inclination to discredit Wilson's home run record. Most of his four-baggers were made in Chicago, where he played seventy-eight games out of the 155 games that he participated in last year. The Cubs' home park has an exceptionally short right field. Still, a short right field should not be of such huge advantage to a right-handed hitter and that is what Wilson happens to be.

"Like Ruth, the 1930 slugging champion is massive. He is not as tall as Ruth but is broader and his thick chest, bulky shoulders, chunky legs and huge arms give one the impression of power. He looks like a man who should be able to annihilate any pitcher's delivery. Wilson, like Ruth, will give any pitcher anxious moments when he comes to bat in a pinch. In the language of the game he is 'bad news'; he looks the part. He is not the equal of Ruth, but if the Cubs should decide to get rid of him, only fifteen major league clubs would be bidding for him. He can slug a baseball, he has color and he is a game guy."

The rumored Klein-Hafey trade never materialized but for a long time they were wondering, in two baseball offices at least, how details of the reported exchange were broadcast.

It isn't exactly ethical, you know, to advertise about those proposed deals. It makes players dissatisfied to know they might have joined a contending club or might have been railroaded away to a tail-end.

The answer, as we noticed the other day, was this: A new man in a big job spilled it all in certain ears and the next day four St. Louis newspapers in Bradentown were asking Sam Brown and Branch Ricker if it were true they were thinking of throwing in Douthitt, Johnson and Stout with Hafey.

Ball Yard Banter

Failure of the Brooklyn Robins to hit in the pinches seems to be the reason why this highly regarded (before the season began) outfit has failed to click in expected style.

It is true that the Robins have had to go on without the needed services of Dazzy Vance and Adolfo Luque but they have other pitchers who should have won some of the games lost.

And the Robins have been hitting—save when hits count. Lefty O'Doul, Babe Herman, Del Bissonette and others have been hitting—but the victories just aren't there.

Brooklyn gets enough men on base but cannot move them around. Proof is the fact that the club has a large number of base runners left on the sacks, gazing forlornly at home plate.

An outstanding example of the Robins' failure to hit in the pinches was a recent game with the Giants. Brooklyn hit safely eleven times. New York got but four safe blows. Yet New York won three to two. Ten Brooklynites died on the bags.

Unless the Brooklyn begin hitting when hits count their pennant hopes, so bright in early April, will end in bitter disappointment.

The club is already so far behind the leaders that it will take weeks of almost consecutive victories to enable the Robins to draw even with the enemy. And coming from behind is the hardest task in baseball.

LEAVES MILLIONS

CHICAGO, May 5.—An estate of approximately $8,500,000 was left by the late Thomas D. Jones, prominent Chicago attorney who was an intimate of the late Woodrow Wilson, it was revealed today after the will had been filed for probate. Jones died in September 1930. The bequest included $500,000 to Princeton University where he was a classmate of President Wilson, and $200,000 to the University of Chicago.

HEAVY HITTING AND MISPLAYS FEATURE SOFTBALL CONTEST

Perrine Bears Down In Public; Birk Has Perfect Day

A conglomeration of small hits, medium-sized hits, long hits, misplays, poor base-running, good base-running, errors of commission and omission featured a 16 to 6 victory registered by the Red Wings Co. over Wood's Barbers in a National League softball tilt at Cox Field Monday night.

Slugging was the rage and the teams took an hour and forty-five minutes to play eight innings, when the contest was terminated on account of darkness.

Pino Perrine, on the mound for the Red Wings, was assaulted for five solid hits and four runs in the first inning, after which he settled down and held the tenuous artists to two runs in the remaining seven rounds. Hit safely in every inning, Perrine yielded sixteen blows but bore down with runners occupying bases.

Clarence Keiter pitched for the Barbers and was nipped for nineteen hits, fifteen of which were clustered in the three innings in which the winners counted four runs.

Dick Birk, Red Wing third baseman, had a field day at the plate with five hits, one a double, in as many times at bat. Wakley, center fielder, collected three bingles, including a homer, double and single.

Shaw, N. Murrell, D. Murrell and Thompson each with three hits, had on their batting clothes for the barbers, while, Murrell third baseman, besides making two hits, bled brilliantly.

The defeat was the second straight for the Barbers this season. The Red Wings, by winning their first game, are now in a three-way tie with the Lang Chevrolets and Graham Paints for the league leadership.

Central High School will make its American League debut Tuesday night, engaging the Krippendorf team, defending league champions, which played a tie game with St. Brigid last week. Line-ups:

FOUR BOUTS CARDED FOR DAYTON MONDAY

One of the greatest all-star boxing programs ever arranged for a Dayton ring was announced today by the reason why this highly regarded (before the season began) outfit has failed to click in expected style.

Jim Kelley, Dayton welter-weight sensation will tangle with Jackie Moore, Chicago scrapper in one; Coleman Johns, local light heavy will get the acid test in one ten-rounder, facing Joe Packo, Toledo fighter; the other ten-rounder will find Johnny Curtin clashing with Joe Lawrence, Curtin and Lawrence have met before, Lawrence suffering a broken jaw and losing out in the eleventh round. Lawrence was ahead on points up until the time Curtin broke his jaw bone.

The six rounder will bring together Henry Beatty, colored star and Little Dillon, another Dayton corner.

Jackie Moore of Chicago who faces Jim Kelley has appeared in Dayton twice, beating Howard Mitchell and Young Neal and should make for a great scrap with the hard punching Kelley.

LANGS BOOK GAME WITH DAYTON TEAM

The Lang Chevrolet Co. softball team, 1930 city champions, will clash with the Florio Malted Milks of Dayton in an inter-city game to be staged Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock on the Washington Park diamond.

The Florio team, according to Bill Baxley, manager of Langs, recently blanked the Kibler Clothiers, 4 to 0. The Kibler team is composed exclusively of ex-college baseball players who last season played together under the name of the Dayton Kelleys, the team which consistently defeated the Lang outfit last summer.

CAR KILLS MAN

LIMA, O., May 5.—With his chest crushed and his collar bone fractured, H. H. Bernstein, 63, Lima merchant, was dead here today from injuries suffered when he was struck by a street car. Joseph Bernstein, city editor of the Cleveland News, is one of the survivors.

SPRING VALLEY SCORES AT WILL TO DEFEAT BELL BROOK HIGH 25-1

Spring Valley High's baseball team remains undefeated to date in county competition as a result of its 25 to 1 victory over the Bellbrook High nine Monday afternoon on the Valley diamond. Only five innings were played.

The Lane-coached outfit scored almost at will, counting twenty-five runs off eighteen hits and seven errors. The offerings of McHenry and Lamb were just to the liking of Coach Lane's boys and as a result they enjoyed a big day at the bat.

Reeves, Valley fast ball artist, allowed the Bellbrook boys but two hits, both of which came in the second inning. Coach Lane changed his lineup considerably for the contest and several of his younger recruits got into action for the fray. Robert Smith, freshman, playing at third base for the Valley team, furnished the feature of the contest by contributing four hits in as many times at bat.

Spring Valley will go to Cedarville Tuesday night in a return contest with the Cedarville High diamond combination. Spring Valley will represent Greene County in the district finals at Dayton next week.

JAMESTOWN OPENS SEASON WITH WIN

Behind the two-hit pitching of Buck Evans, the Jamestown Independents opened their 1931 diamond season by blanking the Shamrock Aces of Dayton, 3 to 0 Sunday afternoon at Jamestown.

Evans was in rare form, striking out fourteen batters. He was accorded excellent support, especially by E. Haughey in left field. The Independents obtained ten hits, every member of the team hitting safely at least once.

After three scoreless innings, Jamestown counted two runs in the fourth and added another in the eighth.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 5. — After a brief advance to slightly higher price levels this morning, the industrial stocks and specialties ran into a stone wall of professional selling, and slipped back to their opening levels. The coppers were again unsettled by reports of a sagging of the red metal market to 9 cents a pound, though it is believed that very little copper was sold at that price.

PAIN IN YOUR SHOULDER?

Use Tymsol for Relief
Knife-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tymsol over the affected area. This soothing, healing preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing aching peripheral nerves. The pain usually stops at once, and in a very short time the last trace of soreness should disappear.

Tymsol is absolutely harmless—free from dope. Recommended for all forms of nerve pain whether caused by neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Sold by leading druggists. Always on hand at

The Theater

Universal makes a graceful gesture and at the same time stands to cash in heavily on a big football picture to be called "The Spirit of Notre Dame."

Carle Laemmle, Jr., says the film will be dedicated to the late Knute Rockne, beloved Notre Dame coach, who lost his life in an airplane accident. All available Rockne stars, including the famous "Four Horsemen," will appear in the picture. The picture will be made partly in South Bend and partly in Hollywood and is not to be confused with the series of short subjects that Universal is filming of the Irish squad. The leading parts will be taken by professional actors, all of whom are yet to be chosen with Lew Ayres a logical choice for the lead. Production starts this summer.

A film soon to be released will answer the oft-repeated question: "What has become of Greta Nissen?" The film is "Women of All Nations," in which Greta returns triumphantly, appearing with Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe. Three years ago Miss Nissen appeared in "Fazio" with Charles Farrell and then dropped from sight with no explanation. As a matter of fact she had decided to return to the field of her earlier success, the stage. Gladys Unger wrote a play for her and she opened in Rochester, N. Y., but, although the critics approved, it was not a financial success. She tried several others that met the same fate.

Not long ago she decided to return to the screen and her experience on both the stage and screen enabled to approach the talkies with confidence. Director Raoul Walsh of Fox was looking for a blonde actress at the time she took tests and, remembering her under him in "The Wanderer," he gave her the part. She has now signed a long term contract. Her weight has not varied more than two pounds since she left the films. She dances for the first time in films in the new picture, but has had training under Fokin and has appeared on both European and American stages and at a command performance for the Queen of Denmark. She speaks perfect English but had to adopt a synthetic Scandinavian dialect for "Women of All Nations."

Twenty Years '11-Ago-'31

The senior class of Central High School will give for the annual class night play this year "The Deacon's Second Wife."

Improvement in the moral and social conditions in the country would result from the granting equal suffrage to women, according to views expressed at the Greene County W. C. T. U. Institute.

Ohio's House of Representatives adopted the amendment proposed by the Senate to the Graves bill, making it not an offense to play ball on Sunday.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MARGARET HENRY AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Henry, 51, widow of John Henry, died Monday at 12:45 p. m. at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Harner, 36 W. Church St. Although she had been in failing health two years death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage which she suffered Friday.

Mrs. Henry was born in Circleville June 30, 1849 and had spent her entire life there until she came to this city two years ago to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Harner. Her husband preceded her in death in 1922. Besides Mrs. Harner she is survived by the following children: S. J. Henry, Hollywood, Calif.; Mrs. Marie Abernethy, Columbus; J. E. Henry, Chicago; Donald J. Henry, St. Louis and Mrs. Zelma Adams, Baltimore, Md. Seven grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Sara A. Henry, of Denver, Colo., also survive.

The body will be taken to Circleville Wednesday morning and re-entombment will be held there at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church of which she was a lifelong member. Burial will be made in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

PLAYS TITLE PART IN SHOW HERE

MRS. FRED SNYDER

Mrs. Fred Snyder will play the part of "Deborah Underhill," the title role in the three act comedy drama, "An Old-Fashioned Mother" at the Xenia Opera House Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The play is being given under the auspices of the Gleaners' Class of the First M. E. Church, taught by Mrs. A. E. Faulkner.

The play is a parable of a mother's love triumphant over the ingratitude and neglect of her children and contains both humorous and pathetic situations.

Members of the cast besides Mrs. Snyder are: Mrs. Carl Benner, Mrs. Della Jeffries, Mrs. Clayton Swartz, Mrs. Roy Ireland, Mrs. Frank Edwards, Lester Price, Arthur Hyman, Homer Wilson, Oscar Fulkerson, Vernon Hampton and Harvey Fulkerson.

REVEAL BETROTHAL

Friends of Miss Zelda Booth are being pleasantly surprised with the news of her approaching marriage to Dr. William H. J. Harris of Chicago, Ill. The engagement was revealed Saturday evening when bulletins of radio station L.O.V.E. with Dan Cupid announcing were given out to the Muses, at a luncheon given by Mrs. Bertha Booth, mother of the bride-elect. Those receiving the message were the Misses Martha Peters, Marie Greenway, Julia Wilhite, Margaret Baker, Alma Howard, Anne Norman, and Rosella Ware. Later in the evening the bridegroom-to-be and the Messrs. Bruce McGowan, Charles Smith, James Holson, and William Tibbs joined the young ladies.

Dr. Harris is a native of Arkansas, is a graduate of Meharry Dental College, a member of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, a World War veteran and one of the most successful practicing dentists in Chicago.

Miss Booth, a graduate of East High School with the class of 1928, a former Wittenberg co-ed, is a student at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. The month of June has been designated as the time for the nuptial event.

The service at the E. Main St. Christian Church Sunday afternoon was well attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. E. Hancock and choir of Lockland, O. His sermon was inspiring. Visitors were in attendance from Dayton, Springfield, and other surrounding cities. Mrs. L. Tatum of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, a spiritual singer, sang four selections which were helpful and spiritual. Each church in the city was represented by its members.

The Married Ladies Afternoon Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hattie Hicks, E. Main St. An especially interesting meeting was held, as the two divisions of the club reported on the financial drive. The Howard group, was successful over the Thomas group, who will entertain their rivals in the near future. Mesdames Lucy Allen and Anna Scott were guests of the club. Much merriment arose during a "Rose Contest", which resulted in Mrs. Lucy Allen winning first prize and Mrs. Lucy Bramlette the second. Mrs. Hicks served a well prepared luncheon and was assisted by Mrs. Eva Greene, Mrs. Bertha Greene, Mrs. Carrie Jackson and Mrs. Anna Scott. The June meeting will be with Mrs. Stella Howard, E. Market St.

The third quarterly meeting for this conference year, was held Sunday night at First A. M. E. Church. Dr. C. M. Hogan, P. E., was present and delivered an able discourse, after which the Lord's Supper was administered by him, assisted by the pastor, Rev. S. A. Amos.

Mrs. Mellicie Carlisle, and daughter.

GALLOWAY & CHERRY

Oil is cheaper than steel... you can't afford to be an OIL-SKIMPER!

Don't Gamble...

the price of your car against small change!

EVERYTHING to lose, nothing but a few cents to gain... such are the odds against "saving" on oil at the expense of your motor.

To be really economical, use plenty of the very best oil... and change it regularly. You will be repaid many times over by savings in car depreciation, to say nothing of pleasanter motoring. Oil changing is made easy for you by "Sohio Service," and Sohio Motor Oil, free from harmful wax, makes things easy for your motor.
